Child Abuse Prevention Month

At the flagpole in front of Bishop Dwenger, you'll see a garden of blue pinwheels—symbols of child abuse prevention since 2008. These pinwheels represent the joy and innocence every child deserves.

Sadly, in 2024, Indiana and Kentucky's child abuse rates were more than double the national average, with Indiana ranking 3rd in child fatalities.

Child abuse is preventable.

We must continue to educate, support, and care for one another. Even a small act—like offering a listening ear—can make a big difference.

This month, please pray a special rosary for all children and families—for their safety, healing, and protection. Together, through prayer and action, we can help build a safer world for all.
